

Rozgrywka miała miejsce w klubie Agresor. Graliśmy w sześciuosobowym składzie.

Poszczególnymi potęgami pokierowali:

Turcy – Aldarus

Habsburgowie – Silver

Anglia – Leyas

Francja – dezterter

Papiestwo – Raleen

Protestanci – Wasylus

Graliśmy oryginalną wersją gry (piszę z uwagi na to, że często zdarza się grać zmodyfikowanymi i żeby potem przy oglądaniu zdjęć nie było niejasności co do tego jak wygląda oryginalna wersja).

WAR: The box where two powers' diplomatic tracks intersect is the minimum CP value card that power must play to declare war on the other (9.6). When one of the powers declares war place an At War marker in the box.

ALLIANCE: When major powers announce an alliance (9.2) place an Allied marker in the box where their tracks intersect.

ACTIVATION: A minor power may be activated (22.2) as a major power's ally if: 1: the box where the powers' tracks intersect is the major power's color and 2: the major power intervenes or plays a specific card allowing activation. Place an Allied marker in the box.

DEACTIVATION: An activated minor power may be deactivated (22.4) by a major power if the major power plays a specific card allowing deactivation. Remove the Allied marker.

Henry's Wives' Pregnancy Chart

Modified Die Roll * Result

6 or Above	Success, Edward VI becomes Henry's healthy, long-lived heir. If Edward was born on a previous result of 5, this result indicates that he has regained his health. If there was no previous result of 5, Edward is born as a healthy lad and the queen becomes Henry's consort until the end of his days. No more rolls on this chart this game. Remove Mary I and Elizabeth I from the game. Add Edward VI to the deck on Turn 6 (or next turn if it is already Turn 6 or later).
 Jane Seymour	Partial success: a sickly boy is born, though the blessed queen dies soon after the birth. Add Edward VI to the deck on Turn 6 (or next turn if it is already Turn 6 or later). He will not live long. Mary I is added to the deck on the first turn in which Edward rules England.
4  Anne Boleyn	A baby is born; but alas, it is a girl. Elizabeth I is added to the deck on the first turn in which Mary I rules England. The queen fails to produce a male heir and is subsequently beheaded on charges of adultery.
2	Henry's flirtatious young wife is found cavorting with other men of the court. She is sent to the Tower of London and beheaded immediately. As soon as England passes (assuming Henry is still alive, uncaptured, and not under siege), advance Marital Status Marker again and reroll on this chart for another wife.
1	The queen is a loving stepmother of Henry's children and nurse to Henry's ailments. However, the couple is unable to conceive a child.
	After an arranged marriage, Henry is repulsed once he sees his wife. The marriage is never consummated and a divorce follows in 6 months.
